2017 Ebony Weekend Conference's theme:

50 shades of Black: Acknowledging the Complexity of the Black Experience, which will focus on the importance of learning about racial injustices in areas such as education, police brutality, communities, and more. This conference will acknowledge how racial injustice in these areas impact the economics of black lives and lead to negative ideologies such as colorism. We want to educate conference attendees on the various aspects that shape the black experience and how learning about all these "shades" of the black experience can be key in creating and maintaining unity in the black community.
